The Safety and Health Week Logo

Three colours forming an equilateral triangle portray the three participating nations— Canada, the United States and Mexico – and symbolizes joint venture, cooperation and the commitment to the common goals shared by all occupational health and safety partners. The three sides stand for partnership of the three countries in this joint occupational health and safety venture, as well as all tripartite partnerships between business, labour and governments. The connected colours illustrate assistance and cooperation on many levels – from interpersonal relationships in the workplace to international exchange.
