

Privacy Matters

Accuracy is the first step in preventing future issues, whether it is a privacy breach or a patient safety incident. It is so important to ensure that you chart in the right patient's chart, provide accurate information, document in or access information from the right account (your own log in), always log in/out of your account, email/fax/phone the right person, provide the right documents to the right person, etc. Confirming accuracy from the start will help prevent errors and save valuable time spent correcting inaccuracies, containing/investigating/mitigating a privacy breach, or potentially managing even more serious outcomes.

Take the time to double check, it will be worth your while!
